LE PRIEURÉ'S HISTORY

In 1332, Cardinal Arnaud de Via, one of the richest Princes of the Church, from Cahors, nephew of Pope John XXII, had a Palace built, it was then said a Livery, in Villeneuve.

In 1333, two years before his death, he donated part of his Livery to a Chapter of twelve canons, twelve Benefit priests and two deacons administered by a Dean, to found a Priory.

The Canons built the Cloister on part of the Court of Honour of the Cardinalice Livery and added to the Chapel a powerful fortified tower, raised on the same street of the Village.

It was only later that they managed to deflect the street and were able to close the ground floor of the tower, which allowed them to transport the Master Altar to enlarge the Church.

The Cardinal has his tomb in a chapel and his weapons have been affixed to it as a keystone.

The Chapter succeeded in freeing the Church from the houses that ensered it through long trials that lasted at least ten years, under the false pretext always invoked of urgent reparations to the southern wall.

The decline has not increased since then, it is still clearly visible in the nave.

During the French Revolution, in 1789, the Property of the Canons was sold as Public Property in about fifty small lots.

Part of this Livery, now a boarding house for painters, was purchased in 1943 by Roger Mille and his wife who transformed le Prieuré into a Tourist Hostellerie.

They expanded in 1972 by building a new wing in the garden and swimming pool.

Other work was then carried out by their son Jacques and his wife, Marie-France.

On Jacques' death, his son François came to support his mother, three generations of hoteliers' Mille succeeded each other to work for the fame of Le Prieuré, a member of the prestigious Chain of Relais & Châteaux since 1959.

The hotel and restaurant Le Prieuré were sold by the Mille family at the end of 2006.

Geneviève & Jean-André Charial, owners of Baumanière - Les Baux-de- Provence, now operate and manage it.

The General management was entrusted to Alexandre Favier, the position of Chef de Cuisine of le Prieuré to Fabien Fage, who studied at the largest establishments and whose cuisine was awarded by a Michelin star in 2010.

The hotel received its 5th star in January 2011, witnessing the ambition to make this place a unique experience for its guests and rewarding the team that works to perfection brought to every detail, every performance.

Fabien Fage has gone to other horizons in 2018, losing the Michelin star in 2022, Jean-André Charial called on Christophe Chiavola in 2023, whose aim is to regain this lost distinction, a feat achieved after just 6 months.

The hotel was also awarded a Michelin key in 2024, in recognition of the soul and warmth of the place

COLLEGIATE CHURCH NOTRE-DAME

The Collegiate Notre Dame was built in 1330 by Cardinal Arnaud de Via, nephew of Pope John XXII.

It was the chapel of a monastery of canons founded by the cardinal.

The cloister, leaning to the north, served the other buildings of the monastery.

MOURGUES' HILL

A place to walk for young and old, the hill offers rest and play areas, as well as a green theatre, entertainment venue and open-air cinema. Beautiful views of Villeneuve lez Avignon and Avignon.

LE FORT SAINT-ANDRÉ

This fortress was erected by the kings of France in the 14th century to protect the abbey and the village of Saint-André. Visit the Twin Towers, the Tower of Masks, the Romanesque chapel Notre-Dame de Belvezet.

From the round road: panoramic views of Villeneuve, Avignon, the Rhone Valley, Mont Ventoux and the Alpilles.

SAINT-ANDRÉ' ABBEY GARDENS

St. André' Abbey was built by the Benedictines in the 10th century near the tomb of Saint Casarie (sixth century).

Its influence was considerable in the region where it had more than 200 priories from Uzès to Forcalquier. Buildings rebuilt in the 17th and 18th centuries on the plans of Pierre Mignard were partly demolished after the Revolution.

PHILIPPE LE BEL TOWER

This imposing dungeon is the only remnant of a fortress built in the 13th century on the orders of the King of France, Philip IV the Bel, at the entrance to the Pont d'Avignon to control access.

It was therefore of vital strategic importance in the medieval South.

Beautiful vaulted rooms host art exhibitions.

From the roof terrace: exceptional panorama of Villeneuve lez Avignon, Avignon and the Rhone Valley.

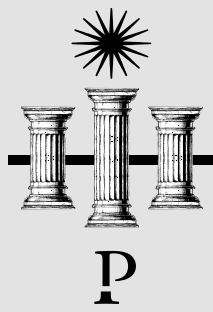

PIERRE-DE-LUXEMBOURG MUSEUM

Housed in a magnificent 17th-century mansion in the former palace of Cardinal Annibal de Ceccano, the museum houses Enguerrand Quarrton's masterpiece: The Coronation of the Virgin (1453), the famous Virgin of Ivory (14th century) and presents a panorama of painting from the 16th to the 18th century: Simon de Châlons, Nicolas Mignard, Philippe de Champaigne, Reynaud Levieux.

CARDINALICES PALACES

In the 14th century, several popes and prelates built resorts outside Avignon: in Montfavet, Sorgues, Châteauneuf du Pape, Le Pontet, etc. Villeneuve was their preferred destination.

In order to tie these princes of the Church, the King of France lord of the city welcomes them with open arms, authorizes them to build vast estates and build sumptuous mansions.
